June 9, 2009

Grade 8 students, Emma Thomas and Nicholas Proto, were honored as the Connecticut Association of Schools Scholar Leaders of the Capt. Nathan Hale Middle School in Coventry at a banquet on June 1, 2009 held at the Aqua Turf Club in Southington.

The award honored one girl and one boy in each Connecticut middle school whose record of academic achievement and service have been truly exemplary, whose personal standards and accomplishments are models for others, and who possess high levels of integrity, self-discipline, honesty, and courage.

Distinguished educator Patti Kinney from National Association of Secondary School Principals was the keynote speaker for the event, and the master of ceremonies was Scott Gray from WTIC News Talk 1080.

The Connecticut Association of Schools and the McDonald's Owner Operators of Connecticut sponsored the banquet, with 1,460 students, parents, and educators in attendance.
